Course Information

Course Name	A Prepared Classroom: Essential Tools for Civics Education in Florida
Continuing Education Hours	5
Semester/Year	February / 2018
Location	Online Canvas Course

Course Description

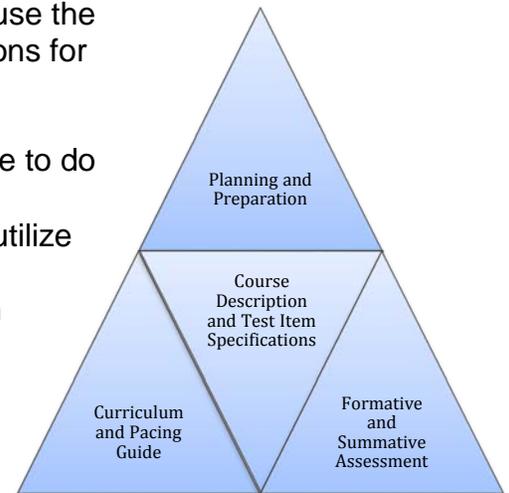

This program will provide educators new to civics with a supported professional learning experience while teaching middle school civics. They will learn, implement and reflect on educational best practices, engage with a cohort of other educators and network with experienced civic education professionals.

A Prepared Classroom will focus on understanding the role of course descriptions and the Civics End-of-Course Test Item Specifications, utilizing curriculum and pacing guide resources, strategically planning and preparing for instruction, as well as providing data informed instruction based on formative and summative data.

Course Objectives

- Module One Objective: Participants will be able to use the course description to identify the general expectations for student learning and use the Civics End-of-Course Assessment Test Item Specifications to identify the specifics of what a student should know and be able to do following completion of the course.
- Module Two Objective: Participants will be able to utilize a district curriculum and pacing guide resources to align classroom instruction with what is expected in state benchmarks and assessments.
- Module Three Objective: Participants will be able to plan and prepare for instruction by engaging with the content of the lessons, anticipating where students could struggle, and developing scaffolded supports to help students succeed.
- Module Four Objective: Participants will be able identify and utilize formative and summative assessments to modify instruction, meet the needs of learners, and to improve student achievement.
